

'Tis the season... for feasting on some fantastic fiction!

Christmas crime

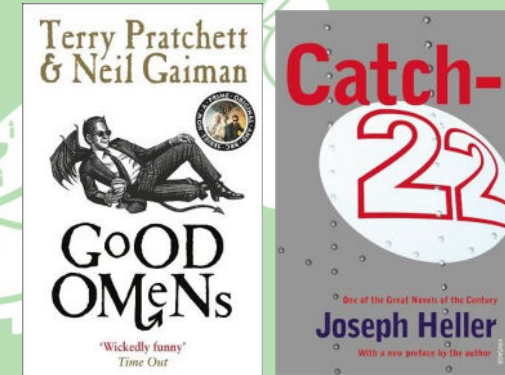

1666. As the Great Fire consumes everything in its path, and as the embers smoulder the body of a man is found in the ruins of St Paul's - stabbed in the neck, thumbs tied behind his back. And a woman is on the run...

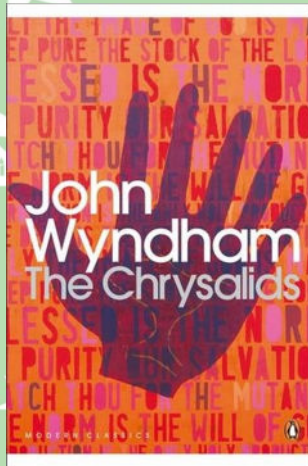

Festive fun

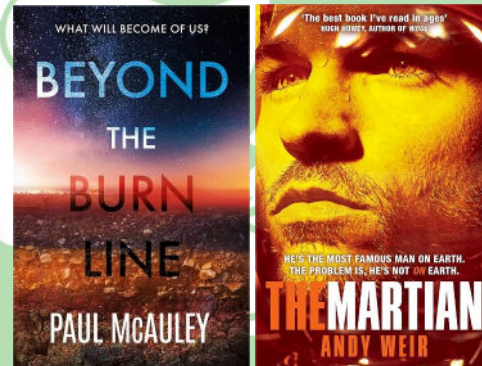

Expelled from Oxford, Paul Pennyfeather finds himself in the position of schoolmaster at Llanabba Castle, alongside an assortment of misfits, including Prendy (plagued by doubts) and Captain Grimes, who is always in the soup (or just plain drunk).

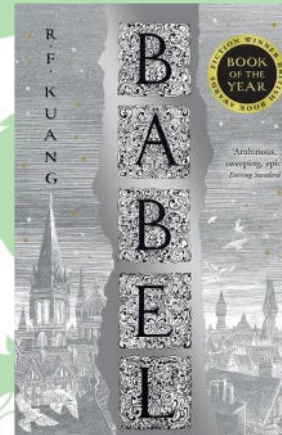

Seasonal science fiction

Nuclear war has devastated the world, bringing with it a host of genetic mutations. In the bleak, primitive society that has emerged from its ruins, any sign of deviation is ruthlessly rooted out and destroyed.

Fireside fantasy

Oxford, 1836. At its centre is Babel, the Royal Institute of Translation. It seemed like paradise to Robin Swift. Until it became a prison... but can a student stand against an empire?

With best wishes for Christmas and the New Year
From the English Department and the Library